GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Ouray, the Friendly.

DENVER, Dec. 15.—Dispatches from Los Pinos state that Ouray has gone to the hostile country to bring in Douglass. Gen. Adams is on his way to his home at Manitou and Gen. Hatch was to have left Los Pinos on Sunday with a small detachment to scout the San Miguel country.

Cold Weather.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 15. There has been a severe storm in the Red river country for two days, the thermometer falling very low. Reports from different points indicate 25 to 30 degrees below zero.

A Breckenridge special to the Pioneer Press says that two children of Wm. Owens were frozen to death and two men, H. G. Storderk and James Nolan are missing. They are supposed to have been lost in the storm and frozen.

New Mining Exchange.

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—The Chicago Mining Exchange, 143 Madison street, was formally opened this morning and promises to be a success.

Arrested for Conspiracy.

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 15.—W. W. Winton, president of the Second National Bank, his son A. H. Winton, his son-in-law, Thomas Livey, and brother-in-law, Isaac Dean, were arrested here to-day charged with maliciously conspiring to defraud the bank of $135,000, on the oath of George S. Goodall, receiver. They gave bail in the sum of $80,000.

Railroad Enterprise.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The promoters of the proposed railroad across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec are taking active measures to put the scheme into practical operation. A company has been organized and Wm. J. McAlpine has been appointed consulting engineer, and Mr. Van Brocklin of the Metropolitan Elevated road, chief engineer, to supervise the location and manage the construction on the isthmus. A party of engineers of whom Van Brocklin's brother is chief, sailed Saturday for Mexico, and the barkentine Ephraim Williams is on her way with 500 tons of supplies consisting of tools, cars, locomotives, rails and ties. Persons interested in the road say it will save more than 1200 miles as compared with the Panama route in the voyage to California, and they predict that it will make a ship canal unnecessary.

Wants Negroes to Come to Oregon.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A special to the Evening Post from Washington says that Senator Saunders has received a letter from an ex-governor of Oregon saying they want 250,000 colored people in Oregon and would offer every inducement for immigrants of that class, as they prefer them to Chinese. Saunders is urged to use his influence to encourage the exodus of southern negroes to that state.

Almost Around.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 15.—Gen. Grant and party arrived here this afternoon and were welcomed to the city by Mayor Patterson. The distinguished visitors entered carriages and were escorted to the governor's residence by a procession composed of military, posts of the Grand Army of the Republic, civic societies and citizens. The streets were handsomely decorated. Upon arriving at the executive mansion Gov. Hoyt welcomed Gen. Grant in a speech of considerable length, to which Gen. Grant replied briefly.

Fire in Little Rock.

LITTLE ROCK, Dec. 13.—A fire occurred here to-day. The family of Mr. Gillis were asleep in the second story, and the only safe avenue of escape was cut off when they were aroused. Mr. Gillis and wife dropped their children out of a window to the ground below on Scott street. The wife was suffocated by the smoke and falling back—she was burned. Gillis jumped from the window and was picked up in an unconscious condition from injuries about the head. It is thought he inhaled the flames and is fatally injured. Both children were severely injured.

The Brandy Crop.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—A letter from France says now that the vintage of 1879 is over, there is no longer room for doubting what had before been all but certain, that the year's brandy crop amounts to practically nothing.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Western Members Favor Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The members of the national republican committee have nearly all arrived, except those from more distant sections and who will probably be represented by proxies selected from members of congress. Many western delegations seem to think the next convention will be held in Chicago, and June 13th has been mentioned as the probable date on which the convention will be held.

Full Returns.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The New Orleans congressman has received a dispatch saying that full returns of the recent state election show a democratic majority of over 30,000. The democrats have elected 31 members of the senate and 76 members of the house, while the republicans have only 5 senators and 17 members of the house. Official returns are certain to give the democrats over 80 majority in the legislature on joint ballot.

West Point Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The sub committee of the house appropriation committee have agreed upon the West Point Academy bill. The aggregate sum is understood to be $270,000, considerably in excess of last year's appropriations. Provision is made for new barracks. About one-half of the sum asked for is granted with the understanding that the buildings may be commenced.

Those Telegrams.

The senate committee on elections and privileges having modified their demand for telegrams in the Ingalls case, the Western Union this morning produced certain telegrams of Topeka, Kansas, being all sent or received by Ingalls and other parties during the period specified. In the original demand Geo. L. Thompson, of Chicago, acted as counsel for the Western Union Company manager. Smith, of Topeka, said he complied with the subpœna at the written request of Senator Ingalls, but some other parties not having authorized the publication of their telegrams he asked to be excused from producing them. The argument will be heard to-morrow.

Booth's Bills.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The following bills were introduced in the senate to-day by Booth: Authorizing a conversion of national gold banks; also, for the relief of certain settlers on the public lands; also, to authorize claimants to certain lands in Los Angeles county, California, to submit their claims to the United States district court in that state for adjudication.

The Repayment of Fees.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The bill introduced by Senator Booth to-day for the relief of settlers on certain lands, etc., provides for the repayment of fees and commissions paid in good faith for void entries of public lands. It is a copy of the bill which he introduced in last congress and which then passed both houses but failed to receive the signature of the president.

Another Financial Scheme.

The bill introduced by Booth for the conversion of national gold banks is a duplicate of the measure recently introduced by Page in the house of representatives.

A Bill to Quiet Titles.

Senator Booth and Representative Pacheco both to-day introduced a bill authorizing the claimants to the unconfirmed half of rancho Las Virgenes in Los Angeles county, to present their Mexican titles to the courts for adjudication.

The bill is introduced upon the recommendation of the surveyor general, who reports that there is no question of the genuineness of the grant, and that while the claim for the other half was confirmed, the ignorant owners of this half failed to obtain a U. S. title for their portion, because they trusted to an unfaithful attorney, who neglected his business by omitting to represent the proof which they had furnished to overcome a technicality that caused their claim to be rejected by the land commissioner without their knowledge, until it was too late to take an appeal. The claimants are still in undisturbed possession, but desire a U. S. patent.

Appointment of John Morton.

It seems to be quite certain that the president has made up his mind to nominate John Morton as collector of internal revenue at San Francisco, for one of his private secretaries to-day solicited a member of the senate to support the nomination if sent in. This request was accompanied with every distinct intimation that it may be daily expected. It need hardly be said that this sort of lobbying has intensified a determination of the California delegation to spare no effort to defeat the nomination if it be sent.

CANADA.

Transferred.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 15.—The contract for section D of the British Columbia section of the Canadian Pacific railway has been transferred to Mr. Onderdonk, a wealthy contractor of California. Cavanagh Bros. retain an interest in it.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

CALIFORNIA.

Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—The testimony in opposition of John H. Burke to the allowance of the accounts of the executors of the estate of O'Brien, was resumed to-day before W. A. Stuart, referee.

Gager recalled: The stocks sold James G. Fair on July 19th, 1878, were only the remainder in the hands of Flood and O'Brien; some had been sold previously and O'Brien's interest credited to him; cannot get the firm's assets at the time of O'Brien's death, the books not having been posted; no final settlement has yet been had between Flood, surviving partner and O'Brien's executors; will not until the receipts are passed and the latter's interest paid over; all the firm's stocks have been sold; the balance of O'Brien's interest is in money; probably a half million; the statements I rendered was to show the condition of the stocks only; there was some cash too, and there are items now on my books to O'Brien's credit.

John R. Jarboe, sworn: Was attorney for Pauline O'Brien and her father, both claiming an interest in O'Brien's estate; the former as legatee and in an unsettled balance; the latter, P. H. O'Brien, was a brother of the deceased and claimed his name, as legatee in the will was omitted by oversight; Pauline, her father and mother, sold all their claims to Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. McDonough, residuary legatees, for $800,000, receiving a check in payment, May 3, 1879.

Counsel for opponents have demanded a full statement of all the assets and liabilities of Flood and O'Brien at the time of the latter's death, also of all subsequent transactions, which statement the referee ordered produced to-morrow. This will conclude the testimony in behalf of the executors, when the opponent will introduce his.

The Gould and Curry.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—At the annual meeting of the Gould & Curry Mining Company this afternoon control of the mine was given to Alvinza Hayward and W. S. Hobart by a unanimous vote of 88,444 shares. The following board of directors was elected for the ensuing year: W. S. Hobart, W. S. Lyle, A. Hayward, A. B. Stull, Robert Sherwood, Solomon Heydenfelt, Sr., and William Kohl. The new board will meet to-morrow for organization.

The Savage Pumps.

Relative to the proposition to stop the Savage pumps the Post this evening publishes an interview with Alvinza Hayward. He said he had as yet received no direct particulars, and the action of the Savage company was a complete surprise to him. Of course if the Savage ceased pumping the water would rise in Hale & Norcross to the 2000-foot level and prevent all work below. He had not had time to investigate the matter, but should set about it at once. John W. Coleman, in behalf of the managers of the Savage mine, afforded the following reasons for the action: The 2200-foot level of the Savage mine had been thoroughly explored south of the incline and nothing valuable had been found, two crosscuts having passed through the vein. To reach and open another level at present would subject the stockholders to an enormous expense, owing to the intense heat and the strong flow of water. In fact it had cost the company nearly $50,000 per month to work and drain the mine and pay its pro rata towards the construction of the combination shaft and the running of lateral branches of the Sutro tunnel. This expense was fearful and the managers, all of whom are heavy shareholders, had decided to cease pumping and allow the water to rise until a drift had been run from the combination shaft and connected with the Savage incline on the 2300-foot level. It would take about three months to run the drift, and when it was completed there would be no further necessity for using the pumps, as the water would flow out to the combination shaft and thence be pumped into Sutro tunnel. By this means the expenses of the Savage mine would be reduced one fourth per month of what they are at present. Mr. Coleman said the Savage managers had no hostile intention toward the Hale & Norcross people. The latter would be given ample time to protect themselves. They could, if desired, erect bulkheads in the drifts connecting with the Savage, and thus keep out the water, or the Savage pumps would be kept running if the Hale & Norcross people would stand the expense of the same. The action of the Savage Company was purely economical and no work would be done in the lower levels except at greatly reduced cost.

Draw Down.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 15.—California and Con. Virginia declare dividends, fifty cents each.

Put Up.

May Belle levies an assessment of five cents. Eurka Con declares a dividend of 50 cents.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Murdered by Indians.

VICTORIA, Dec. 12.—The half-breed outlaws in the interior have murdered a herder named John Kelly, at Stump lake. They are now surrounded in a log house at the foot of Douglas lake in Nicola valley. They have repeating rifles, and the settlers are poorly armed. The Indians are fearfully excited, and an Indian revolt is feared.

An Outbreak Feared.

Much anxiety is felt here as to the condition of affairs in the interior should an Indian revolt result from the action of the few half-breeds, who are now in open mutiny against the laws. The effect will be serious upon the white population. A government steamer will leave here for the scene of disturbance to-morrow morning, carrying special policemen, arms and ammunition.

Another Settler Killed.

The outlaws have shot and killed another settler. They are still corralled in a log house. The country is in arms. The Indians are sulky but quiet. A strong force of police, with rifles and ammunition, left Victoria to-night by special steamer.

Good News.

Confidence has been restored in the public mind in consequence of the news from Ottawa that the railway contracts have been let.

Consecration.

Bishop Y. B. Brondel was consecrated this morning at St. Andrew's Cathedral in the presence of a large congregation, by Archbishop Seghers assisted by some twenty priests.

The Murderers.

Two Chinamen are in custody charged with murdering the man and woman on Wednesday last. The Chinese residents offer a reward for the apprehension of the murderers.

Senator Appointed.

Shipping News.

The ship Hermon will load lumber on owners' account at Moody & Nelson's mill, Burrard Inlet, for Callao.

The bark Eda Gardner, laden with Wellington coal, for San Francisco, was towed to sea from Departure bay on Wednesday morning.

The ship Topgallant has arrived at Departure bay.

Arrived.

The steamship City of Chester arrived at 10 o'clock last night from San Francisco.

Weather.

The weather is rainy with much wind.

NEVADA.

New Railroad.

RENO, Dec. 15.—Articles of incorporation were filed to-day for the Western Nevada narrow gauge railroad, from Wadsworth to Walker lake, a distance of 55 miles; stock, $500,000; directors: J. F. Davis, S. M. Holmes, Jas. Meehan of San Francisco, G. L. Woods of San Jose, and A. J. Rhodes, of Belleville.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Detained—New Light.

PORT TOWNSEND, Dec. 15.—The steamer Isabel, for Victoria, was detained here six hours on account of a strong northwest wind in the straits.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

A Stirring Week in Political and Military Circles—Gen. Roberts' Press Gag Severely Criticised—Various Political Matters—Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

LONDON, Dec. 15.—There has been a constant political animation during the week. Three cabinet ministers spoke. Lord Salisbury and Duke of Richmond made speeches, deprecating the agitation of the land reform, opposing peasant proprietorship and admitting that there is general depression, but suggesting no remedy. Hon. Wm. H. Smith, first lord of the admiralty, discussed the Zulu war and affirmed that the government intended purely defensive measures, but that Sir Bartle Frere had exceeded his instructions. He denied that the government desired the annexation of Zululand and favored moderation in the general South African policy. Mr. Gladstone's reception on returning home equalled the Scotch enthusiasm. There were continuous demonstrations from the Border to Chester, ending with a grand torch light procession. Mr. Gladstone made numerous speeches en route, replying at Wygan to Lord Salisbury's statement that England always seized important positions whenever commotion occurred, he declared this declaration worthy of a political bandit.

The excitement over the Midlothian campaign continues. Every tory speaker attempts to answer Mr. Gladstone. The whigs say that the impression is so profound that if a dissolution of parliament was contemplated it has been abandoned.

It is reported Lord Beaconsfield says that Mr. Gladstone burned powder vainly. There is no intention to dissolve parliament for fifteen months. This postponement to 1881 is affirmed privately by a minister who is supposed to possess Lord Beaconsfield's confidence, but the liberals are everywhere preparing for a general election.

Prof. Bryce has been accepted as the liberal candidate in the Tower hamlets.

A meeting of influential Berkshire infidels was held yesterday. It was convened to consider the county representative and invited Mr. Walter to explain the support he and the Times gave the government. Mr. Walter made a "Join Jingo" speech and asserted his right to act independently. A resolution expressing dissatisfaction was adopted with only seven dissenting votes. Mr. Walter's resignation is expected.

The attempt to answer the note of Lord Lytton, officially described as a drunken freak, is significant of the policy, but the Anglo-Indians are discontented, and it may be considered that this coming with the Afghan news may indicate more in this disaffection than the authorities confess. The gravity of the Cabul news is acknowledged, and it arouses military and political apprehensions that owing to rigid censorship the whole truth is unknown. Nobody believes that the officials are competent. The ministerial organs admit a mishap, admit that the hold in Cabul is jeopardized, and admit that previous official assurances respecting pacification were deceptive. They warn the government against further progress toward annexation. The liberal journals frankly say that Gen. Roberts is fighting for life. His whole force of 500 men is pitted against the entire Afghan army, the strength of which is unknown, but is admitted to be 100,000. The tribes are rising on every side.

The Kohistans, who were lately reported as surrendering their arms, nevertheless send 3000 troops. What Lord Lytton called a "hostile Ghuznee gathering" means 7000 soldiers, well armed and well led. Military critics agree that the Afghan movements show a surprising strategic ability, nevertheless it is believed that Gen. Roberts is likely to overcome the present attack as he holds strongly fortified positions about Cabul, but unless he is victorious an insurrection in Cabul is certain.

Candahar is also threatened by 11,000 troops advancing from Herat. The Candaharese are likewise restless. The public are uneasy from daily accumulation of evidence of merciless cruelties perpetrated on Afghans.

Liberal prosecutions are multiplying since the Queen's bench decision prohibiting magistrates from hearing evidence in justification. There were three this week. One magistrate, Mr. Flowers, of Bow street police court, had the courage to dismiss an application by a stock broker against the World, saying that the alleged libel was manifestly a fair comment. The other magistrates committed the defendants for trial. The rule which Mr. Labouchere obtained removing the Lawson prosecution to the court of the Queen's bench will be argued next week.

Tom Hughes, the chairman of the Crystal Palace Company, after a long struggle with a bolt of the stockholders, has defeated his opponents. This secures the approval of the policy of the old directors. Mr. Hughes remains chairman, and announces his confidence in the future success of the company.

The election at Sheffield to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Roebuck will be keenly contested, being regarded as a test vote between the opposition and the government. The attempt to induce Mark Firth, a great local benefactor to accept the tory nomination having failed, the contest assumed a purely national character. Mr. Woddy is the liberal candidate and Mr. Wortley is the tory. The liberals are confident of their success, though the Roebuck committee support Mr. Wortley. The Irish vote is reported for Mr. Woddy. The nonconformists held a conference on Wednesday and agreed to support the church candidate wherever necessary to gain a liberal victory. This signifies a complete reconciliation between the two wings and secures the liberals against the non-conformist disaffection, which contributed so largely to the last defeat. The present non-conformist attitude is largely due to Samuel Morley.

The New York Herald's correspondent describes the condition of the Huascar after the battle as something sickening. She seemed a great shapeless mass of broken wood and twisted iron, mingled with fragments of human flesh, hair, bones, etc., bearing frightful testimony to the uselessness of three or four inches of plating as a defense against even three hundred pounders.

Memphis wants to clean up, but it sets on having the state help pay the bills. Another siege of the yellow fever would put the city beyond resurrection, and therefore delay in enforcing the sanitary regulations are dangerous, no matter who foots the bills.

Abandoned at Sea.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—The ship Mayfield at Queenstown, from Philadelphia, has landed Captain Call and the crew of the ship Peter H. Allen, from Baltimore for San Francisco, abandoned at sea November 22d, being disabled and in a sinking condition.

Exaggerated or Incorrect.

MADRID, Dec. 15.—Most of the statements published in reference to the recent events here are officially declared to be either exaggerated or incorrect. Only six generals of the army have resigned. None of them actually held command, but only occupied administrative posts.

SKAGIT GOLD FIELDS.

"GREAT EXPECTATIONS"—MOVEMENT TO SECURE THE TRADE—CONFIDENCE COUNSELED—THE LOCATION OF THE MINES AND THE WAY TO THEM.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SEATTLE, Dec. 12, 1879.

Recent favorable reports from the Skagit gold mines have created a flutter of excitement here, as elsewhere on the Sound. A genuine gold fever has been developed, and it is becoming surprisingly prevalent among all classes. It is claimed by some that nothing short of a great auriferous region has been discovered on the headwaters of the Skagit, and that the consequent rush thither another season will rival the Black Hills' excitement in 1876-8, or the Fraser river excitement of 1856. Yesterday Prof. Tiernan, who recently visited the mines, in the course of conversation upon the subject, remarked to your correspondent that he should not be surprised if the diggings proved the most valuable of any discovered on this coast since 1849. Many others venture to draw quite as long a bow. From this standpoint, of course, everything is viewed colour de rose. In all circles the gold mines have become the cynosure of local gossip. The public are on the tip-toe of expectation, and not a few, like Martin Chuzzlewit, have gone wild with

GREAT EXPECTATIONS;

But whether these are to be buried in a yet unexplored "valley of Eden" or not remains for the future to decide. Public opinion at least appears to be all one way, the universal verdict being that the mines are not only rich but very extensive. The fever has reached Victoria and the British Columbia people are moving in earnest to secure the trade of the supposed new Eldorado. Already a large force of men are at work opening a trail through from Fort Hope to the mines, which are located near the British line. By the 1st of March next it is claimed they will have pack animals through over this route, and stores, hotels, saloons and other appurtenances of a live mining camp established on the very site of the new diggings.

NOT TO BE OUTDONE

Our own people are at length moving in the matter of constructing a trail from the head of navigation on the Skagit river a distance of 30 miles, to the mines. Judge Jacobs, ex-mayor Gatzert and S. Baxter, Esq., are now canvassing the city for subscriptions to the necessary fund, they having been appointed a committee for that purpose at a mass meeting of citizens held here last Saturday evening. The distance from the other side is much greater than from this and for this reason it is claimed we have the advantage. Although, so far as your correspondent has observed, there appears to be nothing in the situation to justify any unusual excitement or to warrant anything like a great rush to the diggings until something more definite is known of them, yet there appears sufficient evidence to believe that moderately good paying diggings have been found. As yet, however, they are

ENTIRELY UNDEVELOPED.

No gold of any consequence having been taken out until about the 20th of September last, and up to the present time, so far as I am able to ascertain, only about $3000 have been taken out. Of this amount Messrs. L. P. Smith & Son of this city, have bought $800 worth, the largest sum purchased by any one firm. As to the extent of the diggings no one has definite knowledge. It may be that a great auriferous region has been discovered, the sands of which, like those of Pactolus are mixed with gold and capable of yielding untold thousands of wealth, and furnish employment to many thousands of men for years to come. On the other hand the mines may "peter out" after a few months' working, or according to mining parlance "go up the flume" entirely, whence hundreds similar and much vaunted discoveries have preceded them. It is only an experiment at best, and a little discretion in this as in other matters, would appear to be

THE WISER POLICY

If the mines are as extensive as is claimed, there is time enough to seek a fortune there by and by, even after another year. But, the masses being controlled rather by rash impulses than prudential considerations, we may expect to see a grand rush made for the mines with the opening of spring, such a rush as has not been experienced in this territory since the great Fraser river excitement. Probably ten thousand men may find their way to these mines another season, and even should they prove as rich as is predicted nine-tenths of this number,

AS IS USUALLY THE CASE,

Will likely turn directly about and come back disgusted. The thousand who remain, should they be successful, will return on the following spring, when another grand and still greater rush will be made with a corresponding result, only that, perhaps, two instead of one thousand men will actually "make a stick of it," and so on, to the end of the chapter should the mines hold out.

LOCATION OF THE MINES.

The mines are located in the Cascade mountains on what is known as Ruby creek, the union of several smaller creeks tributary to the Skagit river. Ruby creek empties into the Skagit river 116 miles above its mouth. It is estimated that the river has an average fall of ten feet to the mile from its junction with Ruby creek to where it empties into the Sound, which would give the bed of that creek, on which the mines are located, an altitude of 1160 feet above the level of the sea. Gold has been found on the river thirty miles below the mouth of Ruby creek, and some exceptionally fine specimens of the precious metal have been shown us by Mr. N. E. Goodell, taken from a bar in the river twenty miles below Ruby creek, at what is known as Goodell's place. The same gentleman informs your correspondent that Ruby, Canyon and Granite creeks have been prospected twenty five miles above the river, the sands for the entire distance being found to contain gold in paying quantities.

THE TRIP TO THE MINES.

To reach the mines from this city one must take some one of the steamers on the Skagit route for Mount Vernon, the fare in opposition days being one dollar, and meals which are extra, one dollar more. From Mount Vernon a party of three can charter a canoe, manned by Indians, to ascend the river to Goodell's trading post for $30. All along the route the scenery is described as grand and picturesque in the extreme. As you ascend the channel of the river becomes narrower and the current more rapid. Finally, just ahead of you a great promontory protrudes its bold front into the river as if intent on closing the channel altogether. Presently the canoe shoots around a point of rocks, and just to the left the river comes dashing madly through a narrow conduit hewn from the solid rock. Here you debark and with some difficulty pick your way through the dismal channel,

BY THE BRINK OF THE SEETHING WATERS,

while the Indians get the canoe across. Again you embark, and after a passage of eight miles against a swift current, over rapids and along a great dark canyon, through the deep shade of which the river courses, you reach Goodell's "place." This is described by those who have visited the locality during the past season as one of the most romantic spots on earth. The mountain scenery is described as possessing all the majesty which snow fields and glaciers of a high range impart to an Alpine landscape. Mountain towers above mountain until their snow capped peaks are hid in the very clouds. A strange solitude reigns here. The deafening moaning of the wind through the tops of the tall pines, the roaring of the turbulent water which rushes through the distant canyon, mingled with the howling of wolves and the frequent crash of a snow slide, render the solitude still more unendurable. The Indians say of this, as of many similar localities, that it is the

HOME OF THE SKALLALAT

[illegible] spirits of bad Indians, and no single red man, or party of them, can be induced to venture out here unaccompanied by the Bostons. Trout are very plentiful in the river at this point, and Mr. Goodell assures us positively that seven mountain trout taken out of the water near his place last summer weighed 30 pounds. Mountain sheep, ovis montana, which are so plentiful in the Rocky Mountains from the Mexican Cordillera plateaux to 68 degrees North latitude, are also plentiful, and are frequently shot by the miners. In general appearance they are similar to the Siberian Argali, which is supposed to be the parent of our domestic sheep. But to proceed:

FROM GOODELL'S

One makes his way afoot to the mines. For twenty miles the trail follows the river, now along the water's edge at the foot of some great rock wall towering up hundreds of feet above you, again over an arduous ascent to the edge of a tremendous precipice with the river several thousand feet below stretched out like a thread of silver. Finally Priest's Ferry is reached, where one crosses the river and thence proceeds ten miles over Jack's Mountain, said to be 4,000 feet high and named after Jack Rowley, the discoverer of the diggings. The mountain above the timber belt is covered with bunch grass, and is a favorite feeding ground for mountain sheep and deer. Descending the mountain you strike

RUBY CREEK

Ten miles above its mouth. Here, just at this season of the year, one will find a number of men engaged whipsawing timber at the rate of 150 feet per day to two men, and doing other work preparatory to more active operations next season. From this point down to its mouth the creek bed has an average width of 60 feet. Along its course an occasional bench is found, but for the most part the mountain walls come down abruptly to the water's edge, rising away in the distance until their ragged snow-covered peaks appear to touch the very canopy of heaven. Mining operations are confined to the bed of the creek over which, at certain seasons of the year, particularly in July, the water flows in considerable volume.

THE CLAIMS

Are each 250 feet in width, extending from one side of the creek to the other with a rise 15 feet, on each side. A head dam is first constructed part way across the creek from one side, and a 250 foot wing dam connecting with this dries part of the claim. A wheel and pump is also put in in order to keep out the water which works in through the crevices. This done, the miner begins to wash out gold either with sluices or otherwise. Usually several men band together, and locating contiguous claims, form a company and work together for their mutual advancement. The holder of each creek claim is entitled to a bench claim of the same size; but these are considered valuable only for their timber and to live upon. Timber consists of cedar, white pine and the genuine New England white birch, from the bark of which the Indians of that country make their "frail canoes."

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.

Voorhees presented a petition of seven thousand soldiers, praying to be paid the difference between the value of their pay during the war in greenbacks and value of gold at that time; tabled.

Butler of South Carolina introduced an amendment to Bayard's resolution withdrawing the legal tender of greenbacks. His amendment will make the resolution provide that after January 1, 1885, U. S. treasury notes shall be receivable for all dues to the United States except duties on imports, and shall be otherwise legal tender, and notes issued hereafter shall bear this superscription; referred.

By Vest—Bill for the organization of the territory of Oklahoma out of the present Indian territory.

The vice president presented a communication from the postmaster general recommending the appropriation of $200,000 for increased Star service; referred.

Voorhees introduced a resolution for a committee of five to investigate the causes of negro immigration from North Carolina to Indiana; laid over. Edmunds objected.

The bill passed enabling the secretary of war to enlarge and protect San Antonio arsenal.

After executive session the senate adjourned.

House.

Morse introduced two bills to encourage shipbuilding in America, and for a permission to ascertain and report the basis for a reciprocity treaty between the United States and British provinces.

By Mitchell—Prohibiting omnibus legislation, providing that no bill, except special appropriations, shall contain more than one subject clearly expressed in its title, and that no appropriation bill shall embrace legislation not directly relating to subject matter of the appropriation.

By Coffroth—Granting pensions to all surviving enlisted men, including volunteers and drafted men in the service of the United States during the late war, to surviving widows and dependent fathers and mothers.

By Warner—Requiring gold and silver certificates to be paid out in lieu of coin on demand in multiples of $10; also for redeeming national bank notes in U. S. notes, gold or silver, at the option of the secretary of the treasury.

By McMullan—For income tax.

By Converse—For the reservation of public parks of territory on which the deadwood or big trees of California stand, not exceeding an aggregate of two townships.

By Martin—Allowing appeals from court martials to U. S. courts in time of peace.

By Steele—Changing the time for the meeting of congress to the second Monday in January.

By Monroe—Relating to alcoholic liquor traffic.

By Gillette—Requiring the secretary of the treasury to pay out all gold and silver coin, legal tender notes and national bank notes in the treasury not required for current expenses in the purchase of government bonds.

By Bragg—Annulling and revoking the court martial findings and sentence in the case of Gen. Fitzjohn Porter, restoring him to the service as colonel in the army, and providing for all arrearages as major general up to the 1st of September, 1866, and as colonel thereafter.

By Belford—Providing that in case of non surrender of the Ute Indians engaged in the White river massacre within 30 days, the tribe shall be declared public enemies to the United States and its rights to its reservation shall be declared forfeited.

By Clardy—Providing for the payment of arrears of pensions to widows and to minor children of persons who died of injuries received in the war of the rebellion.

By Chalmers—To encourage the education of the colored race.

Sapford introduced a bill to regulate the manner of counting votes for president and vice president of the United States.

The house then considered the business of the District of Columbia, and took up the bill for the settlement of all outstanding claims, and referring them to the court of claims.

After a long discussion on the bill for the settlement of all outstanding claims against the district, etc., without final action, the house adjourned.

TUESDAY MORNING, DEC. 16, 1879.

PRINCIPLE AND PARTY SERVICE.

Without there is some "balm in Gilead" to heal the breaches in the democratic party in several of the states the chances which the republicans have to get a majority of the next congress, and in four years more to obtain the senate also, are exceedingly good. When there are no local questions on which the republicans of Oregon are divided every election that has occurred since 1861, has shown that she is a republican state, and with harmony in the party, there is but little doubt the state may be carried for a republican congressman and the republican candidate for the presidency next year. As we said recently there seems to be no reason at this time why republicans should not unite and present a solid front to that party which is attempting to bourbonize the country, nor do we believe that a very large number of republicans will be found who will not be willing to forego their personal preferences when they are brought to see that the sacrifice is essential to the success of the party. THE OREGONIAN has in discussing state politics, carefully refrained from any personal allusion for or against any man as a candidate for office. In fact, it has no candidate. It sees the necessity of wisdom and harmony in the councils of the party in order to success, and wishes to throw no obstacles in the way. If there be those who may have voted the republican ticket, or who may have been republicans from principle hitherto, who cannot see this necessity for ignoring personal matters, they will probably find that the party can act and will act and carry on the campaign without their aid.

The time has been and is very likely to come again, when a republican congressman from Oregon may be a very important factor in determining the political character of the national legislature. The time has been and may come again when the electoral vote of Oregon may decide the political complexion of the national executive administration. These contingencies may occur in 1880, and that fact ought to be sufficient to induce every member of the party to lend a cordial support to the steps taken to advance success. By unanimity and earnest effort victory is within certain reach. The action of the democratic party in congress, since the inauguration of Hayes as president, has rendered the duty of republicans most plainly manifest to put forth earnest efforts to prevent the government of the country from reverting to the control of those who once sought its destruction. The democracy is so distracted by feuds and disagreements in the party that those who oppose it will have a comparatively easy task, and its defeat in the next presidential election will so demoralize it that it will probably never raise its head in a national campaign again. Let there be a strong and harmonious effort to accomplish this great result. Oregon's aid is needed in the work, and he who fails at this time to aid in all honorable methods to accomplish it will not be regarded as worthy of a place among republicans. But the methods of accomplishing this work must be honest; they must be fair; they must be based on principle and carried out in justice. They must be thus or the people will not indorse them nor sustain those who take the lead in them. Republicans have long since learned that the way to success is not by trickery, and the party not commended by its principles to the hearts of the people cannot attain to permanent power, and the manifestation of these principles is in the character of the methods which it pursues and the sort of men which it presents to the people as its standard-bearers. There are many good republicans in this state who are worthy the confidence of the party, and any of them ought to have the support of every true republican. Having said this much, the honest and fair-minded republicans in the state can ask no more, and as for those who are not honest their good opinion is not at all wanted nor expected. No man with the independence which ought to characterize every good citizen, whether republican or democrat, can pledge himself before hand to support every measure which a party may promulgate nor every man which a party convention may nominate. A true republican adheres to certain principles, and when his party departs from those principles he can no longer support it consistently, it is the party that leaves him and not he that leaves the party. And this much independence every man and every newspaper ought to have.

IRISH CONVENTION.

A convention of the Irish people is called to meet at Dungannon sometime next month to consist of 300 delegates, who shall be elected at large by all persons who shall have contributed one shilling toward the expenses. After the shilling voters shall have sufficiently nominated the delegates, then a committee is to select from these the candidates to be voted for. What this convention is to do is not laid down, but it is to make preparations in some way for setting up Ireland as an independent nation, whether in union with Great Britain or entirely separate. The cry for an Irish parliament, however, is clearly pronounced.

This movement of Irish nationality, be it noticed, is to relieve the distresses which have come upon the farmers from a succession of poor crops, and from the competition of American farm products, by which many declare themselves unable to pay the whole of the rent, many more their resolve to pay no more than they wish to, and many more declare that the only relief that is practicable is to abolish the landlords. Remotely the independence of Ireland might do something for the inhabitants; but for relief in the present poverty of the small farmers, and the greater poverty of the farm laborers, the measures taken by the government to furnish employment by undertaking public works in Ireland, particularly the reclamation of the swamp lands, of which there are 2,000,000 acres reclaimable, seem more practicable than this political agitation for an Irish nation.

THE NATION'S SHIPPING.

If three fourths of the goods sent from the United States transported to foreign markets were transported in vessels carrying the American flag, it is said that the nation's merchant fleet would equal that of England. The shipping of the United States is in a humiliating condition, consisting of 2217 registered for the foreign trade, and 22,494 vessels engaged in the coasting and inland trade. The use of iron in place of wood for the construction of ships prevents a successful competition by American shipbuilders with those of Europe, and the law forbids a foreign-built vessel to carry the United States flag. Secretary Sherman raises the question, in his annual report, whether it is not time for a change in the law so as to allow our citizens to purchase vessels in whatever markets they are cheapest, and then obtain for them the protection of the American flag. It is time. That change will open the door to a bright future for the nation's shipping.

The press gag order of General Roberts, issued for the eastern campaign in Afghanistan, and evidently emanating from the British cabinet, is proving a serious boomerang to the present tory administration. The order was simply that every newspaper proprietor and correspondent were compelled to sign articles placing them on honor to permit the commander to have complete surveillance of all news, besides numerous small details as to sending news and uniformed correspondents, etc. As claimed by the press at the time it was intended to give the commander and administration the advantage of all news, no matter what the character. The first engagement, which was a serious blunder if not a disc[illegible] of the English troops is represented as an advantage. Now comes the correct news, and the liberals are making the most of it. The application of such severe rules is inconsistent with the advanced ideas of the English people and the English press, and doubtless the Times will pay as a price of this experience the administration of the British empire.

The political hanger-on knows no depth of truckling servility and flunkeyism to which he will not descend as long as his masters contribute to his support. But let this supply be cut off and no man can show such bitterness nor any animal bite the hand that has fed it with such venom as he when he who sees that those upon whose purse he has relied are closing it against him. All past favors are forgotten and only the galling fact that he can no longer, by his debasing truculency, replenish his gaping and empty pocket, controls him. That was evidently what was the matter with the puny concern which made the attack on Mr. Kelly yesterday evening. It was not Mr. Kelly's letter that caused the thing to writhe and squirm so pitifully. It was that he will no longer aid it to keep up a dissension which he, and other good republicans, see can only result in injury to the party. Others will probably see the matter in the same light. As soon as they do, the concern will change its tone concerning them, from that of digusting laudation to ungrateful abuse.

The Ute resolution, of which we spoke a few days ago as passing the senate, has been amended by the sub-committee of the house committee on Indian affairs. The amendment to the resolution consists in a provision that the Utes shall be removed but not out of the state of Colorado. This action was brought about by members of the house from the west. It is certainly a little curious that this resolution should have passed the senate in the way it did because the senate has a larger delegation immediately interested in the matter than the house. It is gratifying to know that these savages are to remain where they can be best watched and guarded.

Springfield, Illinois, has 500 cases of scarlet fever out of a population of 25,000. The public schools have been closed till January 1st and public funerals of those dying of the disease have been prohibited. The death rate however, has fortunately been small. As scarlet fever is a preventable disease, "the product of a specific poison," its existence on this scale simply shows how completely an American city is at its mercy when the sound rules of public hygeine are neglected.

Ex-Secretary Boutwell has an article in the last North American Review urging young men to take active and prominent parts in politics. But he concludes that, on the whole it is best that the young gentleman who goes into politics for life should possess independent means, so that he may not be compelled to surrender his manhood to conciliate a mistaken constituency.

A correspondent writing from Albany asks concerning the Skagit river mines, stating that many of our readers are inquiring the distance, etc. We publish this morning a letter from our regular correspondent, who gives the minutest details concerning the mines, distance, development, etc. It is the first full account yet laid before the public.

Mr. Kemble, of Pennsylvania, having resigned his position as a member of the national republican committee, it is quite likely that the place will be filled by the selection of Senator Don Cameron, who will also appear as a candidate for the vacant chairmanship, with many chances in favor of his election.

The greatest stretch of the human imagination yet made is by Henry Watterson, of the Courier-Journal, who is able to conceive how "Grant could carry every southern state, except Kentucky and Missouri." Could he not have thrown his giant mind over those states and made the thing unanimous?

A New York voter, evidently disgusted with both the dominant parties put in his ticket, "for Governor, the devil." This is by no means the first evidence of Democratic nepotism.

People on this side of the water have an additional reason for admiring Mr. Gladstone. Emile de Girardin says he is of a type more American than English.

[illegible] Bonds — Ah Sing, a [illegible] has been employed at Fliedner [illegible] was arrested yesterday morning [illegible] Hodson charged with [illegible] that Charles Grinkie a butcher [illegible] the shop for the purpose of taking a In removing his clothes preparatory [illegible] Grinkie placed his belt which contained $140 in a [illegible] on the bed [illegible] taking his bath the young man [illegible] clothes and went out forgetting [illegible] the money. Some time afterward G[illegible] missed the coin but [illegible] where he left it. He immediately [illegible] where he had been [illegible] to the [illegible] and asked the Chinaman about the missing articles. Ah Sing answered "Me no sabe." When [illegible] the celestial became frightened and handed over the belt and the money. He was arrested and had a preliminary examination before Judge Stearns yesterday afternoon. [illegible] testimony was deemed sufficient and [illegible] was held to answer in the sum of $500.

Female Rowists —From the San Francisco Life it is learned that a match [illegible] between Miss Grace Florence the [illegible] known pedestrienne who was in Portland a few weeks ago and Mrs W Wallace [illegible] definite arrangements have yet been [illegible] Grace Florence has requested W H [illegible] to train her for the match. He will likely accept her offer as no engagement has been made by Henry Hoyt to secure his services. Mrs Wallace is an ac[complished] oarswoman well known in San Francisco as the stroke oar of the ladies crew of the California Theater Rowing Club and is the best lady single sculler of the state. Grace Florence has an eastern reputation but has done any rowing on this coast.

Gets a New Ship —Capt J A O'Brien who has long been master of the bark Edward [illegible], has recently been promoted. He now has command of the ship Alice C Dickerman which is at Victoria British Columbia. Capt O'Brien writes from Seattle that the vessel is loaded with salmon and grain. She was [expected] to sail direct for London about [illegible] inst. He would be absent about [eight] or ten months, and on returning will [sail] for Portland Victoria or San Francisco. The Alice C Dickerman was built at [illegible] in the year 1875. She is a first-class [vessel] and Capt. O'Brien is to be congratulated on his promotion.

Struck it Rich —Messrs Crandall and [illegible] came down to Portland a few days [ago from] the John Day country bringing [with them] specimens from ledges discovered [illegible] for the purpose of assay. One specimen [yielded] $267 in gold and $87 in silver [illegible] the other turned out at the rate of near [illegible] the ton in silver. They are san[guine] of having a big bonanza and will return [in the] early spring to commence operations in earnest.

Attractive Show Windows —If a large [crowd] of children standing in front of any [show] window is an indication where and [what] kind of presents the little ones want for [illegible] Alisky & Hegele above all others [illegible] a large sale of their really attrac[tive] [illegible] goods displayed in their win[dows] [illegible] is a regular jam of little ones [in front] of their place of business, 145 First [st., adjoining] Odd Fellows Hall.

[Clearing] the Park —The work of clearing [illegible] from the East Portland park has [been commenced]. The fence on the west [side of the] park has been removed and the [work of] felling the trees and reducing them [illegible] will be vigorously prosecuted [until every] vestige of the beautiful grove has [disappeared].

[Y. M. C. A.] —The next meeting of the Young [Men's Christian] Association will be held this (Tues[day] evening) in the vestry of the Baptist [church] commencing at 7 30 P M. The meet[ing will be] led by Mr. E.B Morgan. Subject [of the] evening, "New Life." Everybody [is invited] to attend and strangers made wel[come].

[Authority] Revoked —At the meeting of [the Board] of Police Commissioners held last [evening] the authority of Special Officer E [Campbell] was revoked. The reason for [the revocation] of Mr Campbell's authority [illegible]. So far as known, he has made [a faithful] and efficient officer.

[Sentence] Commuted —Gov Thayer has [commuted] the sentence of imprisonment of [Wm.] Hughes, a convict in the Oregon [penitentiary], to expire on Dec 12th. Hughes [was convicted] of burglary from this county, [sentenced] March 4, 1878 to two years' [imprisonment].

[Unitarian] Social —The ladies of the Uni[tarian Society] will give the second of their [series of] social gatherings on Friday evening [of this week]. The committee in charge are [preparing] a programme that will make a [most enjoyable] evening.

[Resigned] —Mr. Wm Frazier, constable of [East Portland] precinct, has tendered his res[ignation] to the county court. He recom[mends] Mr. A. L Kirk as his successor. The [resignation] and recommendation will be [acted upon] to-morrow.

[Police] Commissioners — Last evening [a regular] meeting of the Board of Police [Commissioners] was held. No business be[yond the] usual routine was transacted other [than the] revocation of the authority of Of[ficer] [illegible] Campbell.

[Road] Repairs —The road leading from [East] Portland out past the Kelly schoolhouse [has been] greatly improved by filling in where [illegible] with brush and dirt. From Ladd's [mill], south, in some places it was al[most] impassable.

[Mail] —The steamer Oregon brought up [illegible] 59 canvas sacks of mail matter [and] [illegible] lock sacks. 59 canvas sacks and 4 [lock sacks] will be sent to Roseburg to day by [stage].

AMUSEMENTS.

Miss Thursby's Concert. A large and [illegible] gathered at New Market Theater last night [illegible] Miss Emma Thursby. [illegible] as well known [illegible] audience [illegible] Her best [illegible] scene from Lomel[illegible] [illegible] scene from [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] "Lo, Here the Gentle Lark" [illegible] sweetness [illegible] expression [illegible] Mr [illegible] [illegible] advantage and was encored. Miss D[illegible] [illegible] in her [illegible] very sweet [illegible] but well [illegible] and earned an encore to which she responded with a spray "Mignon." [illegible] Decidedly the best number on the programme was Mr [illegible] [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] admirably suited [illegible] full round baritone voice and which he rendered grandly. His rendition of "I [illegible] Me Love Thee" and of two encores were up to his high standard.

To say that Mr [illegible] presided at the piano is a sufficient assurance that the accompanying was faultless. He is certainly one of the most thorough [illegible] in his pos[ition] we have ever heard.

New Season —The new dramatic season will open at New Market Theater this evening. The splendid [comedy] of "All that Glitters is not Gold" and "On His Last Legs" will constitute the programme. In active preparation "Aladdin, or the Wonderful Lamp" and "The Woman in Red." Other dramatic novelties are [promised].

THE NEW CEMETERY

Plans for the Proposed Improvements on Exhibition at the Library Rooms

The tract just beyond the Red House on the macadamized road recently purchased by Messrs Corbett, Ladd and Failing to be used as a cemetery has been cleared of such trees and other natural features as are not desired for adornment and the work of laying it out will soon commence. Mr E O Schwagerl a landscape gardener who has had much experience in this class of work in the east has arranged the features of the ground and has prepared large and elaborate maps which will be exhibited to day and to morrow at the Library rooms. Mr Schwagerl will attend at the room on both days to explain the details of the proposed cast. has arranged the features of the ground and has prepared large and elaborate maps which will be exhibited at the library rooms to day and to morrow. Mr Schwagerl will attend on both days at the rooms and will take pleasure in explaining the details of the proposed improvement. The public is cordially invited to call and examine the plans. The tract is a beautiful gently sloping plateau just above the Red House and lying between the macadamized and county roads. Looking north a splendid view of the city of the Willamette river and of Mount St Helens is obtained and in the east Mount Hood rises grandly, the whole forming a panorama grand and sublime. As the enterprise is one in which all have an interest the attendance at the library to-day and to morrow will probably be large.

GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL

A VISIT TO THAT CHARITABLE INSTITUTION—[illegible] AND [illegible] CLEANLINESS [illegible] THE NEEDS [illegible] PATIENTS [illegible]

[illegible] of Dr W H Saylor [illegible] a representative of THE OREGONIAN accompanied him on his usual [visit to] the Good Samaritan Hospital yester[day] afternoon. This worthy institution under the charge of the [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Those in charge of the hospital are Mrs S F Hulat matron, Mr Geo W [illegible] superintendent, G F Brown steward and Mrs Harriet Ogden nurse. There are now twelve inmates eight men two boys and two women. Visiting hours are from 10 A M to 5 P M except on Sunday when visitors are admitted from [illegible] P M. [Religious] services are held every Thursday afternoon at three o'clock under the direction of one of the Episcopal clergy of the city. Any in[valid] [illegible] however w[illegible] consolation of a minister of any [illegible] denomination can have it by making [illegible] wishes known.

One of the needs of the hospital is reading matter for the invalids. Those who have spare books magazines and papers even of old date can help to relieve the tedium of the sick room by contributing the same. Any such contributions may be left at Weeks & Morgan's No 49 Front street and will be thankfully received. A few German publications would be opportune as there are two invalids confined with chronic rheumatism who can read only that language.

The five wards two for women and three for men, are perfect pictures of cleanliness and order are well ventilated and even on a dark and rainy day like yesterday looked very cheerful. One young man who has been ill for nearly a month when he received Dr Saylor's permission last evening to go to work expressed regret that he was obliged to leave such a pleasant place.

A COSTLY MISTAKE

Many persons suffer for years with pains and aches which they mistakenly call Rheumatism but which are caused by a defective action of the Kidneys. No outward application will cure this, but the seat of the disease must be reached by internal remedies. The Oregon Kidney Tea has cured many such cases and is the best purest and simplest remedy known being strictly vegetable uncombined with hurtful drugs or mineral poisons.

WM SCHEFFLER'S ST HELENA

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left in the residue and not incorporated with the brandy leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox government res[illegible] officer at Cincinnati Ohio says in his report that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few if any pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties addressed to Wm Scheffler or Geo H Beard St Helena Napa county Cal will receive prompt attention.

ABOUT LEECHES

A medical gentleman of this city has handed in the following with the request to publish the same

A person has come to this city with leeches which were found in [illegible]. So say the papers. This worm is found in man horses cattle sheep hare rabbits squirrels antelope bears and deer. In man it is rare. They inhabit different parts of the animal. The liver fluke or [illegible] or "liver fluke" or "leech" is the cause of rot in sheep. Sometimes they get into the kidneys. They are found in impure water along marshes and sluggish streams. The ovum or egg of this creature passes away from one animal and is taken by others while grazing over the same land if it be along meadows or damp places. Dr Budd in his work on the liver mentions the following incident which illustrates this

A man started to Liverpool with twenty head of sheep. One became lame and was put into a wagon and taken to market. Finding that he could not sell his sheep he drove them home except the crippled one. The nineteen were taken with the rot and died. Their livers were filled with the flukes or leeches while the one which was carried in the wagon was healthy. The nineteen had grazed over meadows which other sheep pastured on and had swallowed with the food which they ate, the ovum of the fluke. "Distomata are smooth soft oval yellowish white flattened worms with two sucking discs one of which is situate at the pointed head extremity and forms a funnel shaped depression leading to the oval orifice which the other is situated on the abdomen and terminates by a blind concavity. The opening of the sexual organs lies between the two discs. The distoma hepaticum in its fully grown condition measures from 8 to 14 lines in length, and from 3 to 4 lines in breadth (A line is the 12th of an inch.) This description will enable those who own sheep and goats to recognize the fluke or leech. They must not be confounded with the leech used for drawing blood.

A WISE LEGISLATOR

He is successful because he has the manly courage to rise above all personal motives or interests and casts his vote and influence on the side of measures which will contribute to the well being of his fellow men. The good of the many even though it proves injurious to the interests of the few is the maxim of the wise legislator. But certain men will never admit the wisdom of this doctrine any more than some selfish private practitioners will admit the superlative value of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets because these remedies have injured their practice. Of course no man in his right senses will pay a physician $5 for a consultation, a bottle of bitters, a few powders and a prescription when one bottle of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and a bottle of his Pleasant Purgative Pellets both costing but $1 25 will accomplish the same result viz cleanse the liver and blood regulate and tone the stomach and impart a healthful action to the bowels and kidneys.

TUESDAY MORNING DEC 16 1879

DECISION IN THE U S CIRCUIT COURT DEADY J

U S Circuit Court—District of Oregon

MONDAY Dec 15 1879

The United States v Phebe M Humason—No t Action upon official bond

(1) CONDITIONS IN BOND Where an officer is required by his superior ... officer to give a bond with stipulations or provisions in the condition thereof not required by statute the bond is void in toto

(2) PUBLIC MONEY The parties to an official bond for the safe keeping or accounting for public money are not liable for the loss of the same when such loss is caused by the act of God or the public enemy

(3) CONDITION The performance of an express contract is not excused by reason of anything occurring after the contract but in the case of a condition in a bond to do a thing performance is excused when prevented by the law or an overruling necessity

DEADY J

This case was before the court on June 1879 on a demurrer to the complaint which was then overruled (See opinion of that date)

The action is brought against the defendant as the executrix of the will of Orlando Humason deceased upon two bonds executed by William Logan in his lifetime as Indian agent for Oregon together with said Humason and others as sureties—the one on — 1861 in the penal sum of $25 000 and the other on July 1 1862 in the sum of $20 000—and both conditioned that said Logan would carefully discharge the duties of such office and faithfully expend all public moneys and honestly account for the same and for all public property which shall or may come into his hands, without fraud or delay

It is also stated in the conditions of the bonds that Logan had been appointed Indian agent for Oregon and had accepted the office

The breach alleged of the condition of the first bond is a failure to account for $1606 06 of the public moneys received by Logan as such Indian agent and of the second a like failure for $7678 66

The answer of the defendant besides the denials, contains five separate pleas or defences—the first and third being to the count upon the first bond, and the second and fourth to the count on the second one, and the fifth one to both The plaintiff demurs to the third fourth and fifth pleas because they do not constitute a defence to the action.

The third plea sets forth in effect that the first bond was prepared and sent to Logan by the interior department through the then acting commissioner of Indian affairs—Chas. E. Mix—who required the defendant to execute the same with sufficient sureties before he should be allowed to exercise the duties of said office or receive the emoluments of the same, that the conditions of said bond were wholly variant from those required by statute, and enlarged the duties and responsibilities of said Logan and his sureties and so the said bond was extorted from said Logan by color of office, as a condition of his remaining in said office and receiving the emoluments thereof, and is therefore void and of no effect

The fourth plea is similar to the third

The fifth plea states that about July, 1862 while in the discharge of his duties as said Indian agent under the appointment of July 1, 1862 said Logan sailed on the steamship Brother Jonathan from San Francisco for Portland, Or, with the sum of $5000 which he had received from the plaintiff as said agent with instructions to transport the same thereon to Oregon, that said steamship while pursuing said voyage was lost at sea, and said Logan was drowned and said sum of money was, while being so transported, without any fault or negligence of his, lost in the Pacific ocean.

Section 4 of the act of June 30, 1834, (4 Stat. 735) which was made applicable to Indian agents in Oregon, by § 4 of the act of June 5, 1850, (9 Stat. 437) providing for the appointment of such agents, provides that Indian agents shall hold their offices for the term of four years and "shall give bond with two or more sureties in the penal sum of $2000 for the faithful execution of the same"

By § 4 of the act of June 5, 1850, supra, it was declared that each Indian agent thereby provided for should "perform all the duties of agent to such tribe or tribes of Indians in the territory of Oregon as shall be assigned to him by the superintendent."

All the condition, then, which the statute required in the agent's bond, was, that he would faithfully execute his office—perform the duties thereof—and no more was necessary. But the bonds in suit, seem to have been prepared without reference to the law, and the conditions are much broader than the statute requires or was necessary. By these, Logan was not only required to account for the money and property which might come into his hands as Indian agent, but for all public moneys and property however or in whatsoever character received.

In U. S. v. Bradley, 10 Peters, 343 it was held, in the language of the syllabus of the case, that "A bond given to the U. S by a paymaster and his sureties, one part of the condition being in conformity with act of congress which directed bonds to be taken from paymasters, is valid in that part, though it also contained other stipulations not required by the act, these latter being distinct and separable from the former, and it not appearing that any compulsion was used to obtain the bond"

But here it is a question whether the authorized and unauthorized provisions of the conditions are separable or not (U S v Mynderse, 12 Int'l. R. R. 98), while it is distinctly alleged in the pleas, that the bonds were obtained by compulsion

In the U. S v. Tingey, 5 Pet., 115, the circumstances were exactly like those in the case at bar. The principal in the bond was a purser in the navy and the condition required by the statute was, that he would faithfully perform all the duties of purser in the navy of the U. S, while the condition written in the bond was, that he would account for all public moneys and property received by him or committed to his care, without limiting his liability to such as might come into his hands as purser The defendant, a surety on the bond, pleaded these facts and alleged that the bond was extorted from the principal by the secretary of the navy under color of office, as a condition of his remaining in the office of purser and receiving the emoluments thereof Upon a demurrer to the plea in the circuit court, it was held to be a good defence, and the judgment was affirmed by the supreme court.

The court after stating the fact that the condition of the bond was different from that prescribed by the statute, because it created a liability for all moneys or property received by the principal, "whether officially as purser or otherwise," and that it was not voluntarily given, says "It (the bond) was demanded of the party upon the peril of losing his office, it was extorted under color of office against the requisitions of the statute It was plainly, then, an illegal bond, for no officer of the government has a right by color of his office, to require from any subordinate officer, as a condition of holding office that he should execute a bond with a condition different from that prescribed by law"

In Hawes v Marchant, 1 Cur, 140 Mr Justice Curtis in considering this case and others cited from the lower courts to the same effect says, "The rule which avoids such bonds rests upon the want of authority in the public officer to take them, and upon the policy of guarding the citizen against oppression by the illegal exercise of official power It is well stated by Sewall J in Churchill v Perkins 5 Mass 541 that when the plaintiff demands the fruit of an obligation obtained colore officii, it must be shown that the demand is justified by some authority of the officer otherwise it is against sound policy and is void by the principles of common law By colore officii however must be understood some illegal exertion of authority whereby an obligation is extorted which the statute does not require to be given If all parties voluntarily consent to enter into the bond and the departure from the precise requisitions of the statute is made by mistake or accident, and without any design to compel the obligees to enter into an undertaking not required by law the bond is not invalid simply because it contains something which the statute does not authorize

Upon these authorities, and particularly the case of U S v Tingey it must be held that these pleas are a good defence to the action. The demurrer to them is therefore disallowed

The demurrer to the fifth plea is also overruled In U S v Thomas 15 Wall 337 the supreme court in the language of the syllabus, held that "A receiver of public moneys under bond to keep it safely and pay it when required is not bound to render the money at all events but is excused if prevented from doing so by the act of God or the public enemy without any neglect or fault on his part. In delivering the opinion of the court Mr Justice Bradley after admitting the law to be that the performance of an express contract is not excused by reason of anything occurring after the contract was made though unforseen by the contracting party and though beyond his control makes a distinction between an absolute agreement to do a thing and a condition to do the same thing inserted in a bond saying that In the latter case the obligor in order to avoid the forfeiture of his obligation is not bound at all events to perform the condition but is excused from its performance when prevented by the law or an overruling necessity," citing Coke Litt 206 (a) 2 Black, 340-1 and concludes

We think that the case is within the law as laid down by Lord Coke and that the receiver and especially his sureties are entitled to the benefit of it and that no rule of public policy requires an officer to account for moneys which have been destroyed by an overruling necessity or taken from him by a public enemy without any fault or neglect on his part

Certainly according to the facts stated in this plea, this sum of money was lost or destroyed by an overruling necessity—the act of God—without fault or neglect on the part of Logan and this brings the case within the ruling of the supreme court

There must be judgment on the demurrers for the defendant

Rufus Mallory for the United States

Seneca Smith for the defendant
